

Invitation-only paid research for our community

I'm sharing a paid brain health research opportunity with our community that you can do from home.

The National Institutes of Health is sponsoring research on healthy aging, depression, and mild forgetfulness or other mild cognitive impairment in people ages 60 and over. The study takes place on your mobile device, either tablet or phone.

To enroll, you must be able to download and use mobile applications. Participation includes 3 sessions. Each session takes about an hour. You will be compensated $150 for study completion. To learn more, please visit: www.mirohealth-research.org

To screen and enroll in this study, please email your name, email and phone number to research@mirohealth.com and mention the organization or person who referred you. Please call/text Miro Health research coordinator Jessica Li at 708-325-8205 with any questions, and please forward this flier to your friends, family, and greater community.

Thank you for helping to advance brain health research.